Notice To Advertisers.
THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.

Portland's fire department costs $169 a day.
Cleveland will be elected president tomorrow.
The rainfall in Astoria for November was 2.63 inches.
E. D. McKee is in the city looking after his firm's interests.
Capt. Lemon begins unloading the Britannia this morning.
The Oregon is advertised as being due from S. E. this morning.
Alf. D. Brown has sold the Pacific Journal to Thurston Spry.
Armstrong ran behind his ticket nearly 14,000 in Washington territory.
Blaine had 982 majority in Oregon. How much did you bet he would have?

At B. B. Franklin's are some horns polished and mounted and for sale. Take a look at them.
The Guy C. Goss and Carrie Winslow are completing cargo. The Norseman has arrived out.
They say that Jake Kama is a candidate for the position of boiler inspector, should Jim Loran resign next March.
Anyone wanting a good milk cow or a gentle pony can be suited by inquiring of A. G. Allen, or R. G. Shaw, Fort Canby.
J. Strauss, who has lately returned from San Francisco, advises that Santa Claus' helpers are at the New York Novelty Store.
Carl Adler calls attention to his magnificent display of holiday goods, and invites every one to come and see what a splendid stock he has.

About half-past ten last night a sailor named William Johnson fell through the main hatch on the Dorford and broke his leg. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital.
Before county clerk Trenchard yesterday were D. H. Hogan and G. Toothaker, the question being a contested land claim. The case will probably take all day to finish.
Read our new ad's, and bear in mind that men who advertise deserve patronage. They help the local paper and help themselves; they attract customers and keep things alive.

Word comes that Capt. Spikes of the Red Cross, which sailed from here for Liverpool on the 21st of last July, jumped overboard while temporarily insane, on the sixteenth day out, and was drowned.
General Hazen, in his annual report to the secretary of war, states that it is his intention to assign an officer to duty at San Francisco for the purpose of organizing a special weather service for the Pacific coast.

There will be a dime sociable this evening at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Munson, under the auspices of the Parish Aid society of Grace church. The money raised at these sociables is intended to defray the expenses of the Christmas tree for the Sunday school.

J. C. Trullinger will leave on a visit to the New Orleans Exposition on the next steamer, and calculates to be away about sixty days. During his absence J. A. Trullinger will attend to all his business. Telegrams or letters sent care of A. P. Allis & Co., New Orleans, La., will be promptly delivered.

Rose Eytine brought out her new play "Aunt Edna" at the New Marion theater in Portland last Friday. The Oregonian discussing the play is of the opinion that "with more rehearsal, fine stage setting, and a complete rewriting of the play, with a new plot, 'Aunt Edna' would become popular."

THE ASTORIAN learns from a source of undoubted authority that it is not expected that active operations upon improving the mouth of the Columbia will be begun before next March. The principal cause of delay is the settling of the right of the U. S. to the only available wharfage site near Ft. Stevens.

Coasting captains, and owners and others who have had business at San Pedro, Cal., complain bitterly of their treatment there. One vessel's bill for water recently was nearly $200, and the masters state that there is every probability that the air they breathe there will soon be charged for. It is the dearest place on the coast, and they promise to give it a wide berth hereafter.

Messrs. Griffen & Rill yesterday bought the stock fixtures at the New Marion theater in Portland last Friday. The Oregonian discussing the play is of the opinion that "with more rehearsal, fine stage setting, and a complete rewriting of the play, with a new plot, 'Aunt Edna' would become popular."

"PRIMAGE" AND "WHARFAGE."

There was a time when on every freight bill of the steamship company was a certain charge for "primage." Whenever anyone grumbled about it he was confidentially informed that "that goes to the captain," and with that he had to be content. There was another little cinch called "wharfage" that was explained on the necessity of "keeping the wharf in repair," "custom," ordinary usage, etc.

THE ASTORIAN has repeatedly spoken of the unjust and unequal tax on Astoria merchants on the part of the O. R. & N. Co., and in no way is this injustice more strikingly exemplified than in this matter of "primage" and "wharfage," which is a direct gouge. If a business man in Astoria tried to swindle one of his brother merchants in such an egregious manner it would be told all over town before night, greatly to his discredit. We have a bill before us for a little lot of paper shipped from San Francisco on the Oregon, on which the charge is $5.70, freight. That's all right; it's enough, goodness knows, but the paper was brought promptly and safely from San Francisco here, and it is only fair to pay well for good service. But there is a little item at the bottom. It says "wharfage, 25 cents." Now does Captain Pohlmann get that 25 cents? If he does, let it pass; we shall feel gratified to be allowed to donate 25 cents to the O. R. & N. Co. as a testimonial to their service. But it is our private opinion that he does not. It is our positive knowledge that the wages of the entire outfit is so much or so little per month and of all the primage or secondaries in the coffers of the O. R. & N. they never get a cent. Then comes this matter of wharfage. It Captain Hustler or Captain Flavel allows a shipper to land his goods at his wharf, it is tantamount to that shipper's change something for the privilege, but if either of these gentlemen had a line of steamers running between here and San Francisco and had a wharf for their own vessel's use exclusively, we would consider them extraordinarily mean to charge us 25 cents "wharfage" which in addition to the other cinch of 25 cents we find on the bill before us, making a total of 50 cents, which is a direct gouge on the part of a corporation, that, though it has lowered the wages of its employees still demands as high a rate on freights and fares to and from Astoria as it does to and from Portland. "Oh, well," you say, "it's not much; what are you kicking about?" No, it isn't much, but go down to the wharf and see the hundreds of tons of freight for Astoria; note that every bunch of that freight means a separate accident of unloading, stevedores to get so many distinct and separate gouges of "wharfage" and "primage," and figure up the total. You will find that while Astoria is paying well for all the freight she receives over the lines of the O. R. & N., she is taxed unjustly thousands of dollars a year, on that outrageous cinch of primage and wharfage. They do it just because—they can do it.

Purely as a matter of policy, purely as a matter of business, the O. R. & N. Co. would make more out of Astoria in the long run by treating us a little less after the fashion of so many seaports.

Sooner or later there will be a chance to get out of this oppressive tax, and it will be hailed with joy by hundreds of men in this city who are heartily tired of paying for what they don't get, and what does no one any good—except the O. R. & N. Co.

The Sunday Welcome prints a letter from ex-Senator John H. Mitchell, in which that gentleman "positively declines" to be a candidate for the U. S. senate before the Oregon legislature next month.

The Gov. Nevell met with quite an accident over on Gray's Harbor Tuesday. Our informant says that she struck a snag, on the Chehalis river, just above Cosmopolis, which penetrated through the lower works and up into the ladies' cabin, and badly demoralizing the wheel. The machinery was uninjured.—Pacific Journal.

Necessity is indeed the mother of invention, judging from the modes of the Oregon tramp. A large number of this class of men infest the railroad depots in East Portland and when the train arrives strike the passengers for two bits, generally pleading hunger and cold, and promising not to invest in a gin-mill. If really to keep his vow, or with an idea of economy, he pays as his money's worth of pure undiluted alcohol and mixes it with Willamette river water, forming a palatable, though cheap apology for corn juice. It is strong enough, however, to wash down twenty-four hours' accumulation of cobwebs.—News.

A gentleman at Salem writes the following concerning Mr. Nesmith, which will be sad news to his many friends, and which, says the Weekend, contradicts most of the statements heretofore published: "Hon. J. W. Nesmith, who is still at the asylum, is in no way improved in health, but gradually fails. The physicians in charge give his family no reason to hope for his recovery. He appears, at intervals, upon some subjects, quite rational, but is at times violent so that a constant watch and restraint over him are absolutely necessary. His disease is congestion of the brain, which may at any time terminate fatally. He retains a lively interest in his old friends, which is, however, transient; often showing in his replies to those who are about him, his quick wit and repartee for which he was noted while in health."

Lost.
Between THE ASTORIAN office and the residence of W. W. Parker, a gold bar race pin. The finder will be rewarded on leaving it at this office.

The M. E. Church Fair.
Remember the Entertainment and Fair given by the ladies of the M. E. church at Occidental Hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, December 3rd and 4th. The ladies in charge have spared no pains in making the entertainment a success. The programme will be something new and novel, for which will be charged for admission the small sum of 25 cents. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

Don't forget the Baby Show on Thursday evening. Ladies who have no baby will please borrow one and try and get that nice present given by Mr. Adler to the "and-most" baby, or the one given by Mr. Elbertson to the best behaved. All children under three years of age admitted to compete.

Dr. A. Vesper, German physician has permanently located here and can be found for the present at the Germania hotel, corner Squemoqua and West 3rd streets.

Mrs. Bryce would respectfully announce to the ladies of Astoria that she is prepared to do dressmaking in all its branches at her rooms on Cass St., opposite Odd Fellows building.

OREGON'S SHORT LINE.

Now that the Oregon Short Line is completed and regular trains will soon be running, there is a rumor afloat to the effect that before spring there will be a terrible cutting of rates between the two great transcontinental lines. At present there is a pool on rates to Chicago, but that can easily be broken, and railroad men know just how to do it. Say, for instance, the passenger rate to Chicago is $50. That rate is kept up according to the agreement of the pool, but there is nothing to prevent the roads carrying passengers, say two or three hundred miles beyond Chicago for $30, if they feel so disposed. Then passengers can get off at Chicago, if they choose, or at any other point this side or the other side.

When the Short Line is run regular trains, and the work for traffic starts, there is no doubt in the world but this scheme will be resorted to, and that will end in but one thing: the breaking up of the pool; and a slaughter in rates that will be a vast benefit to Oregon. While it might not be proper to wish any railroad line a hard time in making money by transporting goods from and to Web-foot, we cannot but join the people in hoping that the great battle will now open without delay.—Mercury.

A Startling Discovery.
Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery; resulting in hundreds of our best physicians using it in their practice. Trial bottles free at DeWent & Co.'s Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

For a Neat Fitting Boot
Dr. Shoe, go to P. J. Goodmans, on Chenamus street, next door to I. W. Case. All goods of the best make and guaranteed quality. A full stock; new goods constantly arriving. Custom work.

FOREIGN SALMON NOTES.

LONDON, November, 1884.
No improvement in the demand for salmon can be reported, and, without sales being pressed, prices are most difficult to uphold, so that where purchasers insist upon it they can generally succeed in having their terms way as to the terms that are to be specified in their next invoice.—The Grocer.

There is an absence of any disposition on the part of buyers to operate, while holders of salmon here are ready to sell at prices in buyers' favor; but at this season no such business is to be expected.—The Grocers' Gazette.

LIVERPOOL, November, 1884.
Little or no alteration can be reported in the market for tinned salmon. Buyers are awaiting the arrival of the first salmon ships with the new season's pick, which from all accounts, should turn out superior to the average of the past few years. Meanwhile, the attention of grocers has been occupied with dried fruits, and, as usual, the demand for salmon has consequently fallen off, and is not likely to revive until after Christmas, when the small stocks now held will have been cleared out of the retailers' hands. There is an ample supply in the hands of the merchants, who are anxiously waiting for a return of the former activity. The demand in the United States during the few weeks has quite revived, and several lots which would otherwise have been sent here have been taken up. On the spot here common quotations rule at from 17s 18s, and good Columbia fish 20s 22s.—Corr. London Grocer.

Since our last first ships containing the 1884 salmon packing have arrived, viz: the Estadale, with 9,500 cases; the Italia, 8,640; the Majestic, 3,500; and the Charles, 3,000, 14,108 cases; these all sailed about the same time, and the next ship will probably not be here before about five to six weeks. These arrivals upon a market already fully supplied have certainly not tended to strengthen holders' hands. There is really no sound reason why prices should still recede, as stocks, though in fewer hands, are not as large as held at this period last season, and shipments will be as before; therefore will only be holders' timidity or want of means that can cause a lower range of prices, and though we do not foresee any advance imminent, yet we feel sure that later on higher prices will result.—Correspondence London Grocers' Gazette.

A Lawyer and His Name Is Abrams.
Ben Oppenheimer owed W. C. Dragan, the tailor, $5 cash and $35 for a suit of clothes, which the latter thought he was going to lose as the former had left the city bound for California. To save himself he sent F. Abrams, a lawyer, to Astoria to arrest Oppenheimer as an absconding debtor or get the amount of the indebtedness. Oppenheimer, on being approached by the Portland barrister, settled the bill promptly and paid all court costs. He was returned from Astoria Abrams neglected to turn over the money collected to its owner, and also claimed a fee of $15 for his trouble. Dragan, determined not to be thrown from the frying pan into the fire and be again cheated, on Saturday last and arrested on a charge of larceny by bailer.—Welcome.

The Best.
Col. Houston Rucker, the well-known southern oil merchant, Richmond, Va., says, that in a terrible case of swelled and burning rheumatism in his right ankle, the application of St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain cure, gave instantaneous relief and cured him.

Don Allen, who ranked as No. 9 of the life-guard at the cape, is supposed to have perished in the timber near Wise prairie as he has been missing several days. He was last seen following the trail of a wounded deer. Don was well known to the traveling public and visitors to the cape as a St. Bernard of magnificent proportions and commanding presence. To the life-guard as well as his owner, C. B. Allen, he was especially endeared by years of friendship and faithful service, and all feel his loss keenly.—Pacific Journal.
